

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We, Silverlit Toys Manufactory Limited, are the owners of copyright, trademark, patent, and registered design intellectual property rights in the smallest remote controlled helicopter in the world, the "PicooZ™":

To protect our customers and buyers from infringing and counterfeit products, we vigorously defend our intellectual property rights by filing suit against infringers in various countries, including the United States, Hong Kong, China, and the rest of the world. For details, please browse www.silverlit.com.

Recently, we discovered that a company called Hobbytron.com was infringing on our intellectual property rights in the "PicooZ™" with a confusingly similar product called the "PicoZ", sold with the following design and packaging:

After learning of this infringing activity, we immediately filed suit against Hobbytron.com for copyright infringement, trademark infringement, and unfair competition. Shortly afterwards, we obtained a preliminary injunction halting the further sales of the infringing product and allowing Silverlit to impound Hobbytron.com's remaining inventory of infringing product.

We are pleased to announce that on June 20, 2007, the court entered a stipulated permanent injunction against Hobbytron.com permanently enjoining Hobbytron.com from selling or advertising the infringing product to the public and ordering Hobbytron.com to pay $200,000 in damages for its infringing activities. Pursuant to the stipulated permanent injunction, Silverlit has destroyed the inventory of the infringing product previously seized from Hobbytron.com.

For full details of the court's order, please see www.silverlit.com.

We caution our customers and buyers to purchase only legitimate Silverlit products. We invite all persons who discover infringing products to contact our legal department at legaldept@silverlit.com.
